Controlling Devices Over the Internet > Introduction to HTML

How to get doubts resolved

We are aware that this section is repeated. It is not an error. We want to make sure you that you re-read it since in past we have seen many students forget this part when they reach here.

During the training, you may be stuck at any point. For this, I suggest you scroll below the video or the content and check the Forum section. Here you will find solutions to most of your questions. In case your question is not in the answers given in the Forum section then you can ask a fresh question by asking the same in the space below the forum section. You may also ask the question during the live chat session.

For any non-technical questions related to the course like,

1.   Training Certificates
2.   Course Extention etc.

Please write to trainings@internshala.com with your query.